Focus of Learning Walk	The strength of British Value in the school and how all staff implement this into their lessons.
Relevant information read prior to Learning Walk	I looked at the school values and how they were embedded into school policies
Background
Method	I had a discussion with Miss Weston where we discussed British value and what they meant to the school and how she leads this within the school. I also had an opportunity to walk round the school visiting each classroom while each class were taking part in their circle time based around the school's values.
Observations	I first visited Class 2 where children were very engaged with each other and their teacher. Their own work displayed on the walls demonstrated that the values of friendship and kindness were very much embedded in to their class room community. We then moved to Class 3 where I was overwhelmed to listen to children having very open and honest discussions and showing such mutual respect for their teacher. They were discussing the diverse society that we live in and how that sometimes can cause problems. I then visited Class 4 who just blew me away with their mature attitudes towards their learning again their respect for the adult with them was amazing. She calmly spoke to them about the rule of law and how this can be difficult in different cultures. I then moved to the Class 1 with the youngest children in the school where I was inspired by a teacher who is just amazing how she just gets how her children think and work best. Tackling decisions by making things fun and interesting and always involving children in decisions being made about their day. To see this in a Reception class is just brilliant and really will be embedded what is expected by pupils as they move through the school.

Conclusion	The school demonstrates a strong sense of British values which are embedded throughout by staff in a sensitive, fun and inspiring way. Miss Weston leads as the Head Teacher leads by example and strives to make each pupil and the school a shining example of how we can live in a diverse society in harmony.
Recommendations	Promote to parents the importance of British Values to develop their understanding and the impact this can have on their child.
